“Oh surely, very surely,
Mr. Snake,” said the boy,
“there is room. Still more room.
So much more to enjoy!”

Read One Day in the Eucalyptus, Eucalyptus Tree (full text or just shared text) a couple of times as a group. Release partners to read it together.

Transition students to tables/desks so they can add an illustration to the shared text in their Poetry Notebooks.

Explain that they should continue to read this text in Centers/Stations in their Poetry Notebook.
