

Lesson 2

Close reading

SAY

We are going to sing our read aloud song. “It’s time to read a story! A story, a story! It’s time to read a story and learn something new!” Remember that critical readers and writers look closely at stories and use this information in their thinking, discussions, and writing. As critical readers, thinkers, and writers, we are going to read different stories to learn information about this topic to answer this guiding question: How can I understand my feelings and thoughts when I experience different things in my life? As we read the anchor texts in this unit, let’s think of information or ideas we can learn from the text that will help us answer this guiding question. Let’s get started! We are going to enjoy an exciting story today, Circle Unbroken by Margot Theis. Let’s listen to the story to find out how the characters understand their feelings and thoughts when they experience different things.

Lesson 2

Complete the first step of the Close Reading process 1. Fluent Read of entire text for joy of reading and fluency (intonation, expression, and accuracy).

Peer discussion

Now we are going to go back to a few pages and look closely at the pictures and words to help us retell the story with key details.

Lesson 2

DO

Complete the second step of the Close Reading process 2. Read portions of the text closely for academic vocabulary, deeper understanding of topic, and annotate text.

SAY

In the story we learn about the life journey of characters and the hard times they endure and experience. Look at the text (or words) on page 11 and say the word comfort. Comfort in this sentence means the character found relief or ease to the challenges in his life when he remembered the joys from his past. Turn to the person next to you and share if you think the characters in the story understood their thoughts and feelings? Why or why not? Use story evidence to support your thinking.

DO

Listen as students share to assess students ability to report on a topic or text, tell a story, or recount an experience with appropriate facts and relevant, descriptive details, speaking clearly at an understandable pace.

Text-dependent questions

DO

Complete the third step of the Close Reading process 3. Use annotations and text-dependent questions to collect information and check student understanding.

Lesson 2

SAY

Now let's think about the key details of the story. Think about this text-dependent question: What are the most important events in the story? Use key details and evidence from the story to support your thinking. Close your eyes and massage your brains and think about your answer. What are the most important events in the story? Use key details from the story and evidence to support your thinking. Be ready to share with a partner. Turn to the person next to you and take turns sharing your thinking.

DO

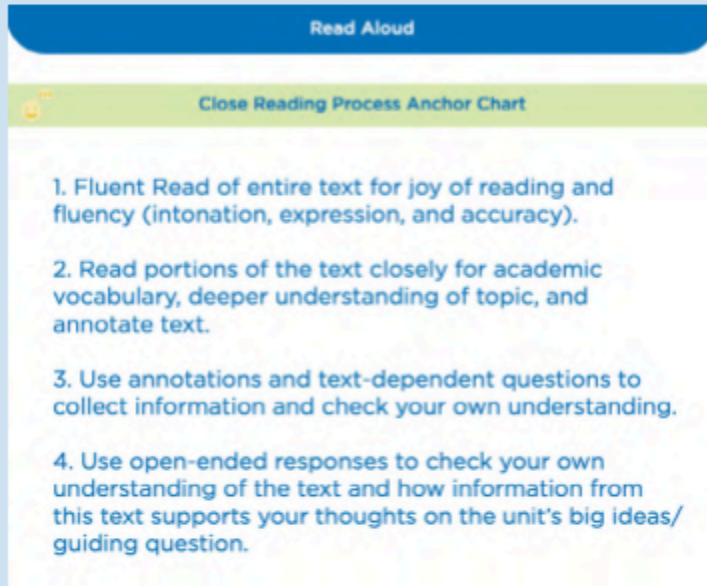

Listen as students share to assess students ability to report on a topic or text, tell a story, or recount an experience with appropriate facts and relevant, descriptive details, speaking clearly at an understandable pace.

Lesson 2

This was awesome information! Let's go back to the text and annotate (or highlight) the evidence we have to support our thinking.

SAY

Read Aloud

Close Reading Process Anchor Chart

1. Fluent Read of entire text for joy of reading and fluency (intonation, expression, and accuracy).
2. Read portions of the text closely for academic vocabulary, deeper understanding of topic, and annotate text.
3. Use annotations and text-dependent questions to collect information and check your own understanding.
4. Use open-ended responses to check your own understanding of the text and how information from this text supports your thoughts on the unit's big ideas/ guiding question.

DO

Model for students how to connect their retelling of the story to evidence from the text.